Blushing Beaver VQA

Winemaker's Notes

Calling Blushing Beaver “food-friendly” is sort of like calling ketchup “burger-friendly” but in this case, it’s not totally wrong. Blushing Beaver falls in between the extremes of red and white - less intense than a big, tannic, mouth-busting red, but with more depth than a super-light white. Just make sure you give it time to chill before drinking (like you would with a white wine). Technically speaking, a cold long fermentation preserved the aromatics and acidity.

Description

Red fruit and floral aromas dominate the nose, while strawberry rhubarb coats the palate.

Serving Suggestion

It’s the perfect barbecue wine, the perfect beach wine, and the perfect picnic wine, but it’s also the perfect sitting-around-watching-TV wine.
